Skills & Abilities

COMMUNICATION

- Getting my point across to a less experienced user in a way they will understand is a key part of my current position at FRIB.
- Communicating with coworkers and creating documentation are also vital parts of my job to problem solve more efficiently.
- During my study abroad in Greece, I was challenged to effectively communicate in a country that doesn't speak my primary language and that taught me how to interact in unexpected situations.

LEADERSHIP

- As an administrator on our website, I have control over all documents and data stored on the site where I am responsible for improving productivity throughout the lab.
- As a student in another country I was responsible for problem solving in a very different culture and taking care of the other students around me.

PROGRAMMING

- Experience with Java, C++, HTML, CSS, JavaScript and Python
- Experience using many different Microsoft applications including SharePoint, InfoPath, and the more general applications such as Outlook, Word, Excel and more.
- Groovy development for Jenkins pipelines
